

Disputes Process

If cardholders notice any differences between the statement and their receipts, or if there are any items on the statement that appear to be incorrect, they should first try to resolve these direct with the merchant/supplier.

If the item cannot be resolved directly with the supplier, cardholders should contact Customer Service (via number on back of card), who will send by fax or US mail the completed dispute form (See Page 2&3) to pursue their dispute formally including reason for the dispute and a copy of the statement highlighting the error. This Form should be signed and returned by fax or US Mail with any additional documentation (e.g. copy of credit receipt) to Citibank Customer Service.

Citibank cannot accept dispute forms without the cardholder's signature because they might be used as legal documents and Citibank needs to compare the signature on the dispute form with the signature that the merchant might present.

- For the dispute raised from the US, the time frame for advising Citi of the dispute would be 60 days from statement date where charge first appears.
